LW Gallery news

August has been and gone. We've had a wonderful and colourful exhibition of the artworks of Henriette Reason and Brenda Cash. This was proven to be very popular with many likes on our Facebook page and quite a few visitors at the LW Gallery. Thank you all for your support.

For September we have the Hawera Art Club.

The Hawera Art Club in its present form restarted in 1969 when a group of enthusiasts gathered monthly above Barclay and Rowland Chemist shop in High Street. Prior to the availability of Lysaght Watt Gallery, annual exhibitions were installed in bank foyers, later in empty shops and Egmont Power Board foyer. A membership ranges from 30's to 90's is proof that age is no barrier with a common interest.

Meetings are held at the Salvation Army Complex in Regent Street at 1pm on the first Friday each month to socialise, share and discuss artistic process and have access to a library of instructional books and DVD's.

Anyone with an interest in art, regardless of ability, is very welcome.

This picture was taken at the Hawera Art Club annual workshop, held in May this year. Well known artist Dennis Greenwood came over to tutor the group over 2 days in a weekend.
